AMERICA, CHINA BOMBERS HIT AT JAPANESE POSTS

By ROBERT P. MARTIN

CHUNGKING, May 4 (AP)—Chinese and American bombers, blasting heavily at captured Lashio, signalled a last-ditch stand in northern Burma today against Japanese drives toward the Chinese frontier above the ruins of Mandalay.

With one enemy spearhead reported only 30 miles from China's Yunnan province, the "Flying Tigers" of the American volunteer group joined a Chinese bomber squadron in a raid on a Japanese airbase at Lashio yesterday afternoon.

A communique from the headquarters of Brig. Gen. Chennault, the AVG commander, said the target was "heavily bombed." Sweeping low over the airbase, the raiders strafed ground positions, shattered the field with bombs, hit barracks, ablaze and blew up a large fuel storage dump.

No losses.

In its first blow against the Japanese since the bitter Chongqing campaign of last December and January, the Chinese air force suffered no loss of planes or personnel, the communique said.

The hearing news of the Lashio raid came at a time when the position of British-Chinese ground forces was critical. Pushing northeast along the Burma road, one Japanese military unit was attacking Chinese positions at Kweichow, 58 miles north of Lashio, and another to a Chinese communique.

Military observers believed this enemy column was dangerously near the Chinese frontier, possibly only 25 to 30 miles away. The communique said, however, that the Chinese were holding and that both sides were suffering heavy casualties.

Japs Branch out

Supplementing their attacking Lashio, another Japanese unit was branching out northwestward from the Burma road, the communique said. The Japanese had received reinforcements after its advance was repulsed. The last week by a determined Chinese stand near Hsienwei, 32 miles northwest of Lashio.

It was reported the Japanese were now attempting to bring Kweichow under their control. The Japanese, above Lashio, north of Mandalay, on both sides of the Burma road, and in the vicinity of the Monywa sector.

SMALL COMPANY SURTAX BOOSTED

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—The House today voted to increase the surtax on small corporations—those earning $25,000 or less—from 6 to 10 percent.

The action was in line with an increase in the surtax on large corporations from 7 to 16 percent, approved by the committee last week.

A surtax is paid by a corporation on all of its net taxable income, plus an additional 10 percent on income from sources not taxable to normal income taxes, such as government bonds.

The committee also voted to retain the declared value capital stock and excess profits tax, but to revise these levels so that corporations need declare their capital stock for only one-third of three years in advance.

Members of the committee on corporation taxes so far would increase the treasury's revenue from $2,500,000 to $3,500,000.

The declared value capital stock and excess profits tax has no relation to the regular excess profits tax.

The treasury sought repeal of the declared value taxes this year in the face of a request for $750,000,000 in additional revenue. The committee decided to retain it for its revenue, even though the action in reducing declarations from three to one year will decrease the yield from $140,000,000 to $70,000,000.

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Petroleum Coordinator Harold L. Ickes indicated today that the administration has considered nationwide gasoline rationing as a rubber conservation measure.

Ickes testified before the house interstate commerce subcommittee on the necessity of rationing petroleum products in areas such as Pittsburgh and West Virginia where oil supplies are ample.

Ickes replied that at this time the petroleum coordinator's office had no intention of instituting rationing in areas where there is no shortage, including Pittsburgh, simply because rationing was to be applied to the remainder of the eastern state area.

RUBBER-BORNE TRANSPORTATION REPLACES UNDER ONE MAN

CONTROL MAPPED ON CAR POLICIES

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Specific control over rubber-borne transportation facilities, including passenger automobiles, buses, taxicabs and trucks, is being mapped by President Roosevelt today in the office of defense transportation.

Mr. Roosevelt issued an executive order conferring on the office of defense transportation, headed by B. Eastman, DDT director, said he understood the primary purpose was to permit his office to determine the policies governing controls over automobiles.

The executive order had not been seen by the chief executive officer, but he said he believed that it provided for "relaxed control over rubber-borne transportation."

To a question whether that included control over private passenger cars, Eastman replied that this probably would be done through some form of rationing of tires and gasoline. He was unable to say whether he planned to restrict the use of cars otherwise.

The order says that the office of defense transportation shall formulate measures to "conserve and assure maximum utilization of the existing supply of civilian transport services dependent upon rubber, including the limitation of the use of rubber-borne transportation facilities in non-essential civilian activities, and regulation of the use of distribution of such transportation facilities among essential activities."

The office was charged also with developing programs to facilitate the continuous supply of rubber, and its transport requirements to the available supply of transportation services relying upon rubber.

MOTHER BATTLES ALIENATION SUIT

Fighting the $75,000 alienation of affections suit brought against her former husband, Mrs. Gertrude Summerville, today filed demurrer and a motion to strike.

The suit was instituted by Gertrude Summerville, Placerville, Calif. She claims that Mrs. Pringle alienated the affections of R. H. Pringle, her former husband of the plaintiff who was Gertrude Pringle before she won a divorce Oct. 14, 1931.

The demurrer presented today by Mrs. Pringle's attorneys says the suit is barred by the statute of limitations. Mrs. Pringle's complaint is ambiguous and uncertain, since it does not specifically show what "conduct, what coining, threats or acts" the mother allegedly used in taking her son's affections from his wife.

The motion to strike asks elimination of the plaintiff's claim regarding to defendant her son, the threat would have deprived him of an inheritance in excess of $25,000. Taylor and Rayburn, and J. W. Taylor are associated as counsel for Mrs. Pringle. Chapman and Chapman and James T. Murphy represent the plaintiff.

Note: Hero Who Stopped Horses Lost a Sweater

"Twin Falls" unsung hero, who Saturday afternoon leaped from the sidewalk into the street to stop a runaway team of horses, was identified himself today.

He didn't make such identification for any "personal glory" reasons but rather in an attempt to relieve an excess of $25,000. Taylor and Rayburn, and J. W. Taylor are associated as counsel for Mrs. Pringle. Chapman and Chapman and James T. Murphy represent the plaintiff.

The man is Harold Wilson, 414 Fourth avenue west.

He had just emerged from a local downtown store after purchasing a sweater and saw the horses coming. He succeeded in stopping them but had to drop the sweater, which was wrapped up.

He walked back down the street to pick up the package but someone had sent him to it.

Today, all he asks is that someone who picked up the sweater send it to him. It was blue and had long sleeves.

WORDS of deep appreciation

We are indeed pleased to find such enthusiastic support for the 1942 Cowboys. The various advertisements in greeting and the awards which have been offered to the players is real evidence that our city, the merchants and individual fans are very much behind us. The financial support we have received also shows that Twin Falls wants and enjoys baseball.

It now remains for us to "deliver the goods"—and we can be sure that both the players and every one else connected with our ball club are going to make every effort to do that. A championship club? Well, maybe not—but under the leadership of Tom Robello we know it will be a hustling, driving, fighting club—and that assures you of good baseball entertainment.

You fans will be pleased to know that the right field bleacher section has again been established — still further evidence that we, as an organization, want to please you!

The stage is set for a great opening game tomorrow night —we sincerely invite your continued support with the surety that you will in return receive high class entertainment and performance for your money.

WOOLING—Recent maneuvers by Thomas E. Dewey have stirred up many arguments in New York labor circles as to whether the former district attorney is a clever politician or just a sucker being bamboozled by union radicals. Insiders believe that the G. O. P. candidate for governor

CLAPPER'S OBSERVATIONS
NATIONS AT WAR

WASHINGTON, May 4 — As I read the chilling news that the Japanese had taken Lashio, the key point on the air line into China, I remembered the tragic conversation I had with General Stilwell, who well already had almost exhausted his meager supply of heavy artillery in the effort to hold Toungoo. There was no more heavy ammunition to come. He had no anti-tank guns, no anti-aircraft, Japanese tanks could

When the woodpeckers in southwestern states bore holes in cactus the wound seals itself with a hard fiber lining, which is removed by native Indians and used like a cup or glass to hold water and other liquids.

ded to deduct his capital losses.

Money won on horse or dog races or in lotteries also is exempt from tax on interest, but it is not exempt if not properly classified as earnings.

The British tax structure calls for a 30 per cent basic income tax, with numerous permissible deductions in figuring taxable income.

Allowances of $320 for a single person; $560 for a married couple; $640 for a family with two children, 10 per cent of earned income, with a maximum of $6000 life insurance premiums paid exceed one-sixth of the gross income or equal the net income, interest on a mortgage, three annuities on the same basis as life insurance, premiums of more than $5000, and total income above $50,000, at the rate of 10 per cent on the sixth, seventh and eighth years, and 15 per cent on the ninth, tenth, 11th, 12th and 13th years, and 22 and one-half per cent on the 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 22nd and 23rd years.

24th thousand, and to 47 1/2 per cent on all income above $30,000.

The maximum combined income tax on a surplus is therefore 97 1/2 per cent. A taxpayer thus has to pay 97 1/2 per cent on the net profit of a dollar of income above $30,000.

On the day of his resultant net income, after taxes, he pays heavy income taxes on almost everything he purchases or uses, such as the annual cost of his car, his home, his food, his clothing, his recreation, his education, his American, medical, 15 cents on an imperial gallon of gasoline, more than 10 cents on a gallon of oil, $2.10 on a $4.25 cigarette, sent in a theater and 60-75 per cent on luxury products.

LONDON, May 24/89.—Although there is no arbitrary ceiling on net income in Great Britain, the tax rate here runs up to 97½ per cent, which makes it extremely difficult to earn more than £30,000 a year. For any individual to have a spendable income of more than £30,000, he must have a gross income of more than £100,000. After taxes a Britanier must gross £120,000 a year. Individual income tax is levied on the net income earned, but tax experts believe that £120,000 represents about the highest individual income in the country.

On such a gross the individual taxpayer would have to pay £117,000, leaving him with a net spendable income of £3,000. Should he succeed in increasing his gross income, however, there would be no ceiling on the tax he would have to pay on his own use. But the rate at which this net income accrued would be reduced by the amount of the additional dollar he was able to earn.

Certain categories of income which are exempt from taxation are not taxable here. For example, English has no capital gains tax (profits from the sale of securities) or on selling stocks for more than they paid for them. Neither can they be taxed on the profits of an individual regularly engaged in playing the stock market as his habitual occupation. The law also exempts on such gains and the permitted
